Summary report:	In today's session, Prof. Mrunal Mam explained how to overcome common barriers in communication. She emphasized the importance of using clear and simple language to avoid misunderstandings. Active listening was highlighted as crucial—paying full attention to the speaker without interrupting helps in understanding the message correctly. The session also covered the need to be mindful of body language and tone of voice, as they play a big role in how a message is perceived. She also encouraged asking questions if something is unclear and being open to feedback to ensure effective communication. Additionally, she conducted a presentation practice, allowing students to apply these concepts in real-time. This practice helped students identify and address their own communication barriers, enhancing their skills in delivering clear and effective presentations.
Outcome:	Students understood to identify and overcome communication barriers, leading to improved skills in delivering and interpreting messages clearly and increased confidence in both verbal and non-verbal communication.
